* Note that the name of the associative entity has changed from either "team" or "salesteam" to "teamMembership" - this name makes much more sense from the standpoint of creating instances of the entity and having each one then be associated with only a single salesperson.